

Software Library Listing

March 2012

INTRODUCTION

This is a catalog of all of the files maintained in the Keystone MacCentral Software Library. The Library can be obtained on DVD by request. Processing fee to KeyMac members is $5.

We have archived all pre-Classic and Classic files, along with most “No Longer Available” files. These are still available on request.

The library list is organized into categories — this should make the listing more useful.

The times, they are a’changing. With the introduction of the App Store, it is becoming more difficult to download some “Shareware” versions of applications. So far, the MacUpdate site <<http://www.macupdate.com/>> has been able to provide access to recent updates (in most cases.)

Also, we generally keep only the most current version. In some cases, the program works with a single version of Mac OS X. In these cases, the web site maintains versions for prior OS X versions.
